APRIL 18 IS SET FOR VOTE ON ARMY BILL

The women and children can take refuge in the postoffice.
"Of course if you side your country and are untrue to the flag," said the letter, "you will oppose this building."
"First we passed the Shields Dam Bill," said Senator Kenyon, "because it was a preparedness bill, then came along another dam bill, which we were urged to pass as a part of the national defense. The child labor bill and the rural credits bill certainly are included as means of securing us against foes, and I suppose when the rivers and harbors comes up, every exponent of dredging sand bottoms and mud banks will insist that they are needed for national defense."

Despite the protests of Senators Foster of Wisconsin and Miller of Pennsylvania that the measure is a burden with "pork" and no substantial changes were made by amendment. The House intends to pass the bill Tuesday.

DENIES LOBBYING.
WASHINGTON, April 8.—A denial that the national guard had maintained a lobby in connection with preparatory legislation as charged by Chairman Chamberlain of the military committee, and others, was made in a letter written today to Senator Lee by General J. C. R. Foster, chairman of the executive committee of the national guard association, for incorporation in the Senate Record.

The Democratic and Republican parties are very strong and can do things, but they are as nothing compared to the power of the combined liquor traffic and some politicians know it all too well.

DENIAL MADE BY THE TEUTONS OF ATTACK

board the Sussex are understood to have been received by the American embassies in Paris and London. Officials are eager to examine their contents.

INVESTIGATING DUTCH SHIP
BERLIN, April 8.—The text of the German government communication to the Dutch government, with regard to the investigation into the sinking of the Dutch steamer Palembang, is as follows, according to a dispatch from The Hague, given out by the Overseas News Agency: "The reports of all men of war which might come into the question of the Palembang incident, have been received. At the time when the Palembang met with the accident no ship belonging to the German navy was in the neighborhood. It must, therefore, be considered impossible that the Palembang was hit unintentionally by a torpedo fired against an enemy man of war."

A Rotterdam dispatch to the Copenhagen Politiken on March 30, said that according to evidence gathered by the Dutch ministry of marine, the Palembang was torpedoed while she was lying alongside a British destroyer which was engaged in picking up mines, and that the inference was drawn that the Palembang was sunk by a submarine which intended to destroy the British warship and not the Dutch merchantman.

REPUBLICANS MAKE READY FOR SUMMER

cord of leadership and more significant, still, there is the unmistakable readiness of the people to pledge themselves anew to the Republican faith. Although Senator Harding's address was not formally labelled "key-note" it was regarded at least as a preliminary to the keynote.

The best kind of a saloon is no saloon. The next best is one that runs to reduce the consumption of liquor instead of increasing it.

RAILROADS OR MORE TROOPS GREAT NEED

Villa is considered merely incidental to the pursuit," was the observation of Consul Garcia. "This announcement puts a different aspect on the situation. It means that the United States troops will not consider it necessary to pursue Villa to the end of the earth or to keep up the hunt indefinitely after their object of smashing Villa is accomplished, as a military power."

Placards headed "Important telegram" have been posted conspicuously in Juarez at the order of General Gaviarra, containing the extract from the treaty of 1848 made between the United States and Mexico, providing arbitration of disputes. It states that the first chief has communicated this extract to the Mexican ambassador in Washington. It is said that the object of placards is to allay war rumors among the people.

Villistas were reported in the neighborhood of Saveto by General Gutierrez commanding at Chihuahua, in a telegram today to General Gaviarra. He said that Generals Zuazua, Garza and Maldonado were advancing against the renegade right and left of the lakes, respectively.

An official of the defacto government said today that five men, now prisoners in Juarez are being held as the local leaders of the frustrated plot to capture that town, while the investigator of the whole affair is a wealthy Mexican, now a refugee in Texas. The rest of the prisoners, he said, were merely tools. The five leaders have confessed in the hope of leniency.

The plot, according to these confessions, was aimed at Americans. During the band concert in the plaza last Sunday evening, which it was safe to surmise, would be attended by all classes, including the soldiers off duty, the conspirators intended to open fire on all Americans in sight and immediately rush the barracks and seize the arms. They were then to attack the American patrols at the international bridge and other points. Their object was said to be not so much to overthrow the Carranzistas as to force American intervention which the conspirators believed would end the Carranza regime and restore peace with guarantees of security for property, including the great estates now confiscated.

Some apprehension was felt by the people of Juarez today by a report circulated among them by supposedly Villistas sympathizers that President Wilson intended to take the Mexican Railways by force if permission for their use, was refused by Carranza.

BUCKNAM TELLS WHAT HE DOES TO SECURE REAL PROHIBITION

Cochise County Leader Describes His Personal Creed and Offers Suggestions How to Advance Temperance.

(By A. R. Bucknam)
They tell me I am not a Prohibitionist. Well, what is a Prohibitionist? A Prohibitionist is a person who in any way obstructs the pathway of the liquor traffic. If you advocate no treatise, no music in saloons, a clear view, no games, election of dry men, taking off the tax and revenue or reducing the license or voting to close one or more saloons, for one hour or for all time; or if you refuse a drink when you ought to take one just to help along the business, you are called a Prohibitionist.

I am often asked if a man can be a Prohibitionist and drink alcoholic drinks, and I reply: The drinking Prohibitionists were a big factor in voting Arizona dry—what would you call them if you did not call them Prohibitionists? Let me repeat: "Any person who in any way obstructs the pathway of the liquor traffic is a Prohibitionist." A party Prohibitionist is one who votes for the party of that name. He may be drunk or sober.

We should improve our system of taking care of our drunks. Why not send them to a retaining station instead of to jail or home? What wife wants a drunken husband to come home? The place for him is in a hospital.

SCARCITY OF MEAT HAD IN AUSTRALIA
MELBOURNE, Australia.—The scarcity of meat and the higher prices resulting have already stimulated the work of developing the Northern territory of Australia, according to the latest report of the official administrator of that district. The want of water, which has been a serious handicap to stock-raising, is gradually being overcome by the tapping of inexhaustible supplies of underground waters through sub-artesian bores.

Statements that this section of Australia is climatically unsuitable for white settlers are denied in the report which states that investigation by experts shows that "the climate offers absolutely no bar to proper development by white labor. Given freedom from tropical and other infectious diseases by importation, the evidence available is that the territory is quite as healthy for white people as any part of the world. Indeed, it is probably the only part of the Australian continent where men may be seen at any time and all times of the year engaged in hard physical labor in the open air, undressed from the waist upwards but for an ordinary felt head-covering. The fear of sunstroke does not exist."
